

INTRODUCTION TO HABITATS

A habitat is a place where something lives.

There are many different types of habitat... hot or cold
big or small
on land or in water

A field

Photo courtesy of Martin Pettitt@flickr.com) - granted under creative commons licence - attribution

A tree

Photo courtesy of silverfox09(@flickr.com) - granted under creative commons licence - attribution

A river

Photo courtesy of doug_wertman(@flickr.com) - granted under creative commons licence - attribution

A desert

Photo courtesy of Bulkr(@flickr.com) - granted under creative commons licence - attribution

Coral reef

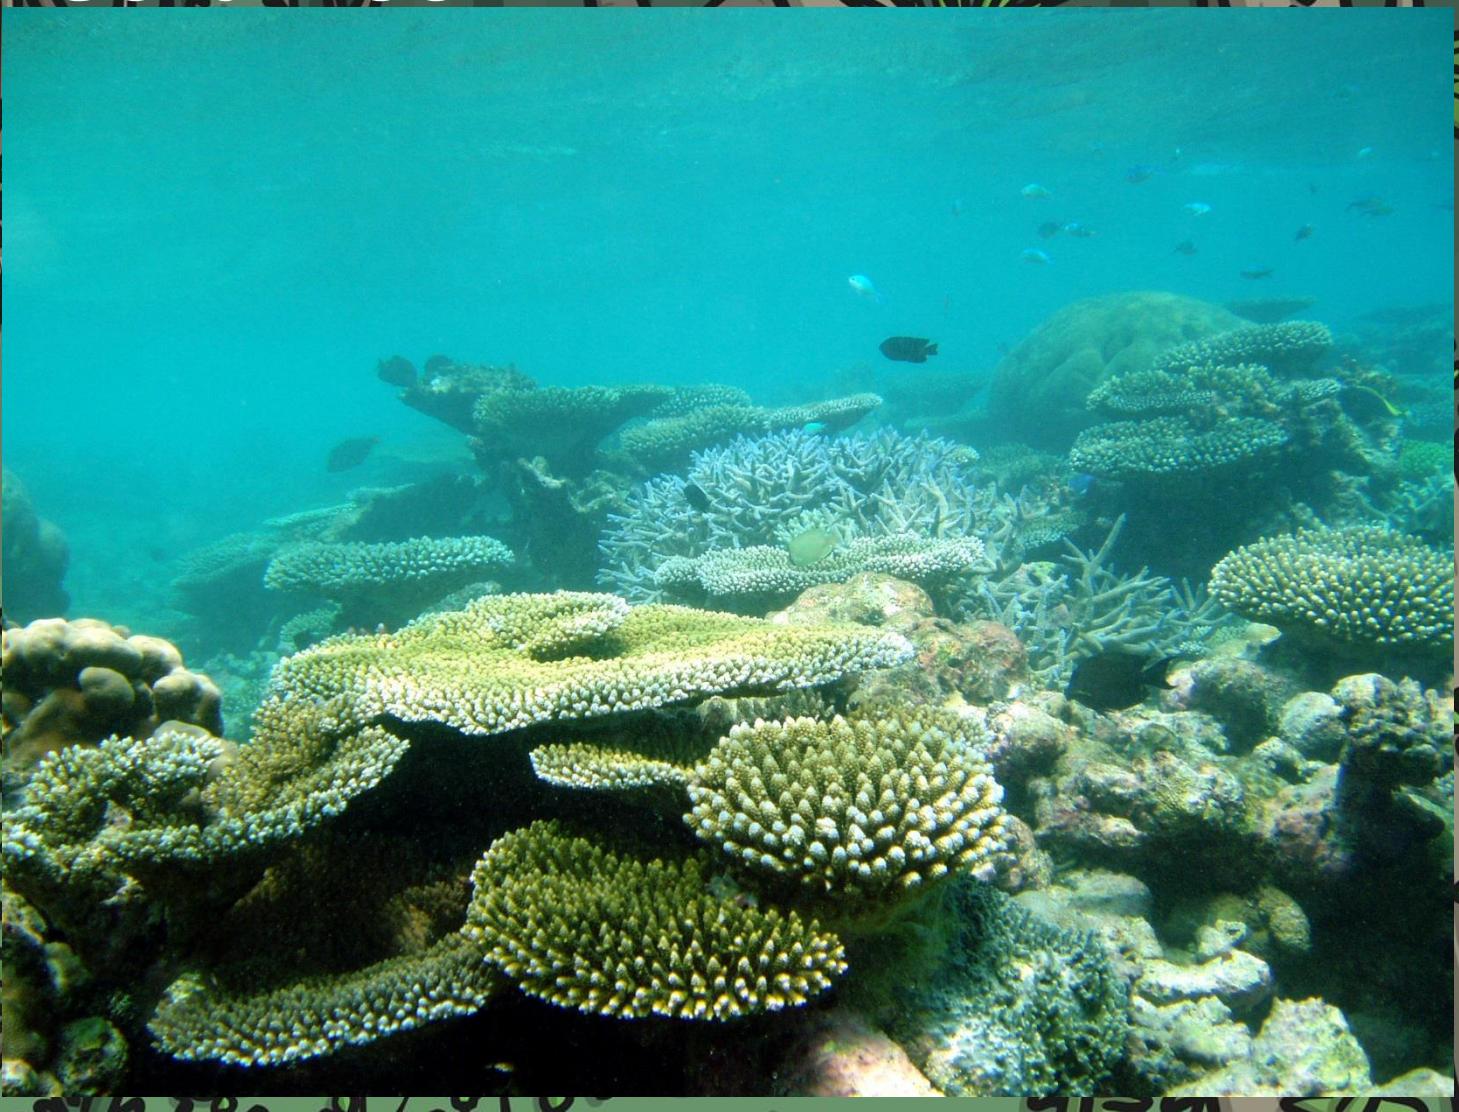

Photo courtesy of ccharmon(@flickr.com) - granted under creative commons licence - attribution

The rainforest

Photo courtesy of tauntingpanda (@flickr.com) - granted under creative commons licence - attribution

The sea

Photo courtesy of lovejanine(@flickr.com) - granted under creative commons licence - attribution

A mountain

Photo courtesy of Gnuboss(@flickr.com) - granted under creative commons licence - attribution

Grass

Photo courtesy of Matt Ohia(@flickr.com) - granted under creative commons licence - attribution

The Arctic

Photo courtesy of Steve from London (@flickr.com) - granted under creative commons licence - attribution

A hedge

Photo courtesy of antonychammond(@flickr.com) - granted under creative commons licence - attribution

A flower bed

Photo courtesy of don.wing45(@flickr.com) - granted under creative commons licence - attribution

Swamp

Photo courtesy of MikeLove(@flickr.com) - granted under creative commons licence - attribution

Savannah

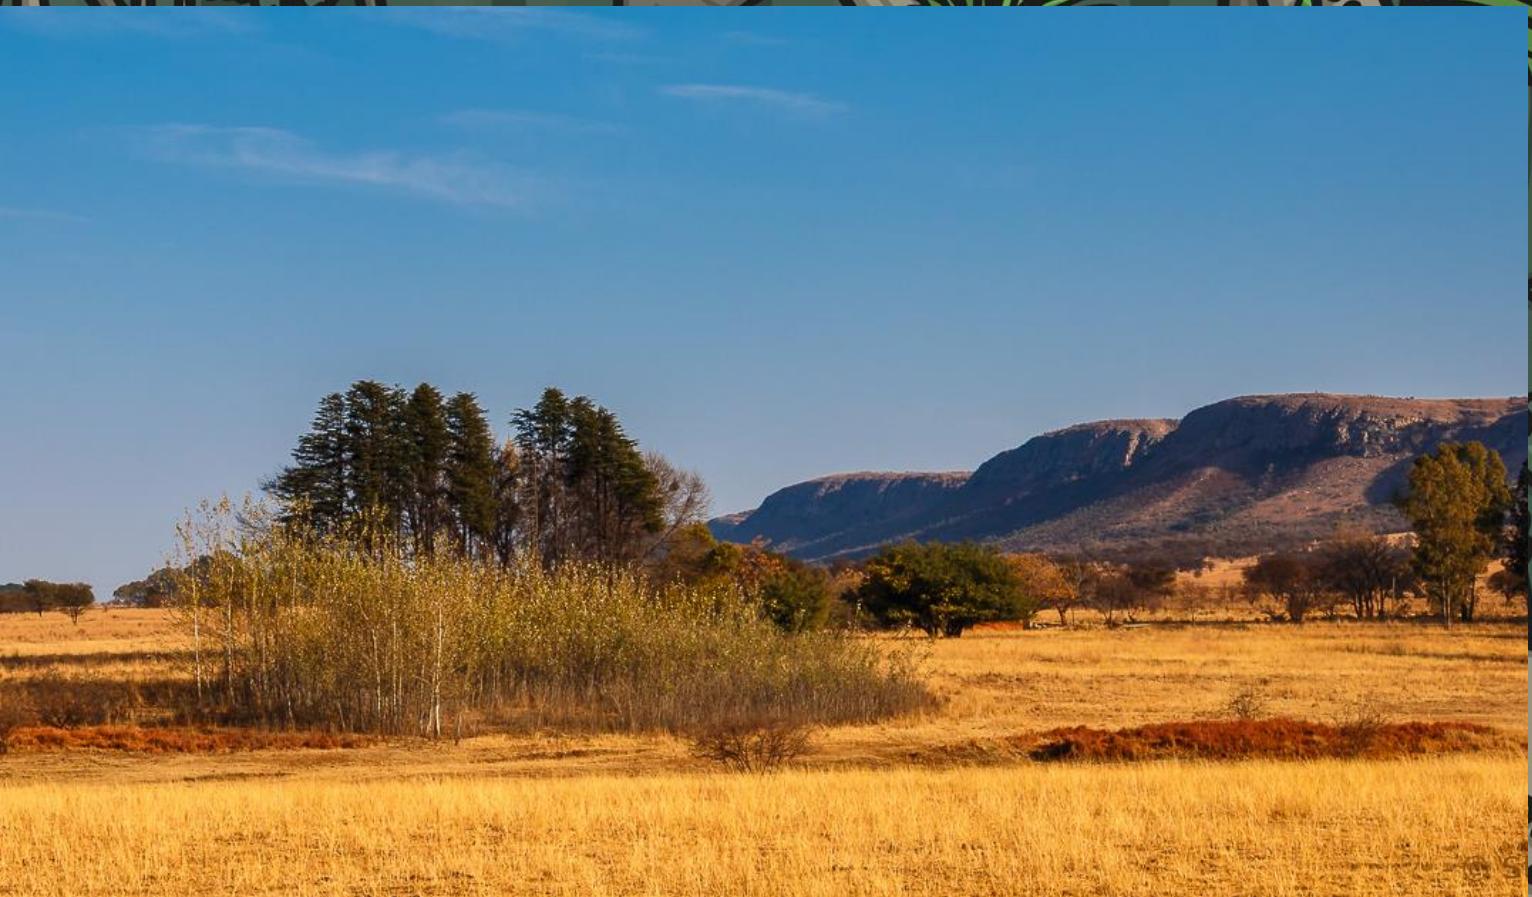

Photo courtesy of StormSignal(@flickr.com) - granted under creative commons licence - attribution