Answers

So, if I asked you what a simple, compound or complex sentence is could you tell me?
Keep your poster safe so you can use it to remind yourself when we see you in September!

Challenge

1. Example sentences:

Jacob stood on his tiptoes. (Simple- one main clause)

The couple walked down the road and their neighbours waved from the house.
(Compound- two main clauses and a coordinating conjunction)

George wanted to stay outside, despite the driving rain and wind. (Complex- a main clause, a subordinating clause and a subordinating conjunction)

2. A phrase is made up of a group of words which do not contain a verb and do not make sense on their own.

A clause is made up of a group of words which do contain a verb.

Main clauses make sense on their own.

Subordinating clauses are dependent on the main clause and do not make sense on their own.
